WHY

ADMONTER WOOD PRODUCTS FOR INTERIOR DESIGN?

With wood, design dreams become reality. Below are some arguments for designing with wood.

1: Healthy living and indoor climate

Wood as a renewable raw material is by far one of the most natural materials for interior design and thus ensures a healthy indoor climate. It is light, stable and it can be wonderfully processed and refined. Due to its open pores, it positively influences and balances changing room climates.

2: Wood absorbs sound

Wood contributes to pleasant room acoustics because sound is reflected only to a limited extent. Acoustic absorbers made of wood on walls or ceilings significantly influence the reverberation time and sound level. At the same time the attractive design in different wood types will round off the design. This can also improve existing spaces by introducing wooden finishes.

3: Colour Range

With more than 100 colours available, colour schemes can be easily transferred to wood products. The use of light or dark woods influence how rooms are perceived.

Light wood types in combination with calm, low-knot assortments have a more homogeneous effect and create a more luxurious ambience, while dark woods and/or rustic assortments show off the character of the wood.

4: Wood creates a feel-good atmosphere

Different textures such as antique look, brushed or manually scraped encourage you to experience and feel the wood with all senses. An additional benefit of wood is its natural scent due to its natural oils and the feeling of being in nature.

Its surface texture also brings comfort, warmth and well-being into living rooms.

5: Selection of material and installation patterns

Depending on the type of wood, colour and format, individual wishes can be integrated and thus bring a personal touch to every room. The design possibilities with Admonter are almost unlimited. 15 different types of wood, more than 100 shades of colour as well as different formats ranging from XXL planks with 8 metres in length, the classic plank pattern to herringbone parquet. Floors, stairs, panels, doors and acoustics from Admonter enormously influence the interior. A real highlight are reclaimed woods which have been shaped by sun, wind, rain and snow for over 100 years, and have thus acquired their rustic appearance and their unique characteristics. They can be perfectly combined with traditional and modern architecture and interior design.

6: Use in private sector, in public as well as in the hotel industry & gastronomy

In many buildings wood is increasingly seen as the material of choice because of its properties. Whether it's a private villa or chalet in the mountain region, a luxury flat in the city, a hotel in the city centre or a restaurant with a sea view – Admonter products are used everywhere. Thanks to their high quality they offer a long-term promise for the investment, as well as the highest customer satisfaction and timeless design. It is important to pay attention to the fact the material, colour, quality and design are in harmony with each other. With all Admonter products completely matching between floors, wall panels, stairs, doors and acoustics, complete room concept can be achieved. Each individual product has its own design characteristics. Yet, if you combine the different elements, you will get the ultimate wood experience which is unique for Admonter.

7: Comfortable heating and cooling

This aspect will become increasingly important in the future. Invisible heating and cooling systems, integrated into floors, walls and/or ceilings allow comfortable temperatures in summer and warmth in winter. Together with our system partner Harreither – Austria's leading manufacturer of heating and cooling systems – we offer these functional solutions.

8: Focus on holistic room concepts

Admonter offers a holistic room concept, all from one source, for various applications. Wood is very versatile and is mainly used in the interior in the form of flooring, wall and ceiling panelling, furniture, doors, staircases, table tops or kitchen fronts. When designing all these areas, it is possible to create unique, coherent room concepts according to the customer's wishes.

ADMONTER PROMISE

As Admonter, we are an Austrian company based in the green Styria and are a commercial enterprise of the local Benedictine monastery.

We produce natural wood floors, panels, stairs, wall and ceiling panelling, acoustic panels and interior doors - all made from high quality & genuine wood. Our natural wood products have created a special name for themselves: Admonter.

This name is both an indication of origin and a commitment. At the same time exclusive local production is guaranteed. This ensures the high quality of the products and the well-being of a region.

We have been working with wood in this region for almost 100 years. Its incorruptible beauty and origin have inspired our craft ever since.

We obtain our wood exclusively from sustainably managed forests and also ensure an appreciative environment in other respects. Since we are convinced that only with caring for nature and people, something outstanding will be the result. Something that stays true each and every time and whose beauty has an effect both inwardly and outwardly.

Quality and trust become the most natural thing in the world.
